A family, scattered through a nation have come home. Faces and names are recalled, and by-gone scenes connected with them spring up in irrepressible, glad surprises. Half-forgotten acquaintances of youth, like vines after gleaning, hiding here and there a cluster overlooked, but ripened to peculiar sweetness, are found by each one of us. The ancient hills, the old rocks and trees smile their recognitions. The bright brooks chatter their greetings from grassy banks, and old homesteads, a few, - and new ones, many, - offer winning welcomes from opened gate and door. A glad accost beams alike from the face of nature and of all the dwellers in this endeared town-home. Welcome home! you say. Glad to come home! we reply, for Joyfully dear is the homeward track, If we are but sure of a welcome back. The Third Jubilee, since English hands and hearts made these fields, hills, and valleys the scenes of love s great care and toil, has come.
