Excerpt: . . . to make a preliminary payment according to scale to cover the cost of such inspections. 8. Apprenticeship. --This method of disposing of pauper children has been generally abandoned, mainly from the difficulty of finding employers willing to enter into indentures. The regulations as to it are contained in Arts. 52-74 of the General Consolidated Order, but under the Order of 15th February, 1898, the Board may assent to a departure from any of such regulations. Apprenticeship to sea service is regulated by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894 (ss. 105-108); and the same Act (ss. 392-398) makes special provision as to apprenticeship to the fishing-trade. In this career, though the life is a hard one, many workhouse boys have done well, and have risen to be masters and even owners of smacks at Grimsby and Lowestoft. In the year 1895 an exhaustive inquiry on the subject was made by Mr. Berrington of the Board of Trade, and Mr. J. S. Davy of the Local Government Board, and their report (very favourable to the system) was forwarded to Boards of Guardians by the Local Government Board in a Circular of 2nd March, 1895. Outfits. Under the Order of 10th June, 1897, Guardians are empowered to pay for outfits for children sent out to service. Previously, the assent of the Local Government Board had been required, and in sending this Order to the Guardians they explained that it had been their practice to object to a child...
