

Comprehending Content

By Cris Tovani

Stenhouse Publishers, United States, 2006. DVD video. Book Condition: New. 310 x 254 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Teachers of adolescents across the country are under enormous pressure to cover more content in their disciplines, to make instruction more relevant to students, and to help students acquire the reading skills they need to succeed on standardized tests and beyond. In this video program, high school teacher Cris Tovani brings viewers into her school and classroom and shows how she and her colleagues are meeting the challenge of improving students reading skills across the curriculum. The programs include examples of Cris working with students using texts from multiple disciplines in her classroom, as well as collaborating with colleagues throughout the school. Program 1: Modeling What Good Readers Do Using examples from technical text and novels, Cris models her own reading process to show students how to read and understand difficult material. Program 2: Interpreting Data: Charts, Graphs, Standardized Tests Cris works with students as they analyze charts, data and graphs, and discusses how standardized test scores led her to place more emphasis on data reading across the curriculum. Program 3: Reading Like a Mathematician Cris and math teacher Jim...
